| Summary of the event: | A Parent-Teacher Meeting (PTM) was organized to strengthen communication between parents and faculty and to discuss the overall progress of students. The meeting aimed to provide a clear understanding of students' academic performance, including their internal marks, attendance, and practical work. Faculty members shared insights into each student's strengths and areas that require improvement. Parents were informed about the importance of regular attendance and active participation in lectures and laboratory sessions. The discussion also focused on students behaviour, discipline, and attitude towards learning. Teachers highlighted the significance of developing technical skills such as programming, project work, and problem-solving abilities. Parents were guided about the importance of internships, certifications, and industry exposure for better career opportunities. The meeting also addressed challenges faced by students, such as time management, exam stress, and backlog subjects. Suggestions and solutions were provided to help students overcome these difficulties effectively. The PTM created a platform for parents to share their concerns and expectations regarding their child's education and career. Faculty members assured continuous support and guidance to help students achieve their goals. Emphasis was also given to the overall development of students, including communication skills, teamwork, and participation in extracurricular activities. The interaction helped in building a positive relationship between parents and teachers. Overall, the Parent-Teacher Meeting was successful in creating awareness among parents about their child's academic journey and future prospects. It encouraged collaboration between parents and faculty to ensure better performance and holistic development of engineering students. |
